HARD TO GET JURORS

At 3 O'Clock a Jury Had Not Been Obtained in the Shuler Assault Case.

LAWYER O'HARA IS PARTICULAR

The Original Panel Contained Too Many Republicans to Suit His Fanc.

James Shuler, city editor of the Press, is on trial before Justice Baldrey in St. Joseph today on the charge of committing an assault upon John Higman, jr., Thursday, August 12. The proceedings are being held in the council chamber of the city hall which is capable of providing sufficient accommodation for the large number of spectators.

The effects of the brutal assault upon Mr. Higman were still visible as he sat in the court room this morning, occupying a chair by his attorneys, Lawrence C. Fyfe and N. A. Hamilton, retained by Mr. Higman to assist Prosecuting Attorney Valentine. Beneath his eyes and across his nose the flesh was discolored and scarred. His alleged assaulter, bearing a Corbett air, sat tipped back in his chair puffing at a cigar, his face betraying pleasure over the notoriety he was receiving. In the audience sat Editor Bowersox, Shuler's trainer and pugilistic manager. He viewed with apparent pride the "slugger," who, under the title of "city editor" is employed by him to mutilate faces. Attorney James O'Hara, assisted by Lawyer H. W. Davis, is defending Shuler.

The entire forenoon was taken up in an effort to secure a jury and at the rate the proceeding progressed this morning a jury will not be obtained before 3 o'clock this afternoon. At 11 o'clock a panel of six jurors summoned by Sheriff Ferguson stood up and were sworn. Their names are James Forbes, Anthony Canavan, Montgomery Shepard, S. W. Smith, M. O. Helmer, and Lincoln Heartt. The prosecution challenged for cause Anthony Canavan and M. O. Helmer. It appearing that they had opinions which the evidence would not remove. They were excused. The sheriff was sent after talesmen and returned with Robert Jones and W. S. Bradford. Mr. Jones said he could not render an impartial verdict and he was excused. Prof. Niz was summoned. He said he had no opinion regarding the case and considered that he could decide fairly upon the evidence. The prosecution then expressed itself satisfied with the jury and Lawyer O'Hara started in with his interrogations. He didn't like the political complexion of the jury. They were all republicans and his client being a democrat, he fancied political prejudices might influence their verdict. He was unwilling to believe that Prof. Niz had not formed any opinion and insisted that the professor define the word "opinion" as he conceived it. "It is an impression or belief," said the professor. "No," said Mr. O'Hara, "don't you know that Plato explains that opinion is the medium between knowledge on one side and ignorance on the other?" The attorney succeeded in drawing from the juror the acknowledgment that he could not consider that Shuler had not made the alleged assault until the evidence showed conclusively he had. Upon this admission the lawyer challenged the juror for cause. Justice Baldrey refused to excuse the juror until the lawyer produced more "cause." It was 12:15 and court adjourned until 1 o'clock.

This afternoon Lawyer O'Hara exercised his right to a peremptory challenge and Prof. Niz was excused. At 3 o'clock a jury had not been obtained. Scarcely any of the original panel remain and before the defense expresses satisfaction with the jury it is expected that it will be composed entirely of talesmen.

POTATOES OF MANY KINDS.

Former Watervliet Man Making Himself Famous.

A correspondent of the Grand Rapids Democrat writes of a former Watervliet citizen: W. E. Walden, the landlord of the Wigdom house at Hart, is a great potato fancier. He raises seed potatoes as a fad, and he told me at Hart last week that he had ninety varieties of potatoes and that they were doing nicely. Among them he has a great many of the old varieties well known to farmers before the war, as the old fluke, cow horn, the old Irish cup, the old neshanook, old Prince Albert, and peerless, old long mucey, old merino. He proposes to make an exhibit of these potatoes at the Oceana county fair next month. He had an exhibit of them last year, and I noticed the surprise on farmer's faces as they stopped in front of the exhibit and recognized some of these old varieties of potatoes which they had not seen for years.

BURGLARS AT BERRIEN CENTRE

They Rob Uriah Shaffer's Store to Tune of $50.

Uriah Shaffer, a merchant at Berrien Centre, lost $50 worth of goods last night as a result of a visit from thieves to his store.

The raid was made about midnight and the articles stolen were two revolvers, 18 gold finger rings and two dozen razors.

The same thieves, it is thought, who raided Mr. Shaffer's store forcibly entered the Big Four depot at Berrien Centre last night. They broke open the ticket case, but no tickets were missing, and stole a revolver.

Sheriff Ferguson was advised of the theft about 11 o'clock today and he detailed Deputy Tennant on the case. The deputy left St. Joseph at noon over the Big Four.

LOT OF BOSH Y STORIES

They Are Being Told in Chicago to Injure the Graham & Morton Company.

THE CHARGE OF OVERLOADING.

The Wheelmen Want to Get Out of Paying for the City of Louisville.

The Chicago papers are filled with sensational stories concerning the trip across the lake Sunday evening by the steamers City of Milwaukee and City of Louisville and the Graham & Morton company have come in for considerable censure.

The government officials, it is claimed, counted the passengers as they came off the City of Milwaukee and found that the boat had aboard 1,700 passengers or 200 more than allowed by law. With gang planks where four or five passengers may walk abreast it is believed that the count of the inspectors cannot be reliable. The officers of the steamer are ready to prove that only 1,468 passengers were carried. Every passenger as he got aboard gave up his ticket. These tickets were carried to the office of the purser, Adolphus Reichle, and he counted them into piles of 100. When 1,400 were aboard he called a halt and after that only 68 more passengers were allowed to cross the gang plank. The steamboat company is liable to a fine of $500 for overloading a boat and if an effort is made to impose any fine the company will take the matter into the federal courts.

The wheelmen who chartered the City of Louisville were disappointed when the government inspectors could count only 600 passengers when in reality there were not quite 500. The cyclists wanted some excuse to get out of paying the charter fee and if the inspectors could have counted more than the passenger limit they would have attempted to get the excursion for nothing. Now they claim that they were not treated right and want to be carried back and forth for nothing.

Captain Levy of the Chicago cycling club said to a reporter yesterday:

"We were supposed to pay $350 for the lease of the ship, and before our riders were on the boat the currency and checks were in the hands of General Agent Corey. I have stopped the payment of the checks, feeling that our rights were violated. It was the understanding all along that we should have the boat at our disposal. At the very start a number of passengers whom we did not know were forced upon us, and we had to take them. The very last thing the captain was told when we left the Graham & Morton dock was to obey my orders."

"When we got to St. Joseph I specified that the City of Louisville should leave when the boys wanted her to. This the captain and the agent there agreed to. Later in the evening we were told we would have to go as the company ordered. I referred to our contract, but we were laughed off the wharf. This was not the end of the arrogance of the steamship people."

Think of it! The steamer City of Louisville put under the charge of a captain of a cycling club and Captain Boswell on his own boat subject to the orders of a simple wheelman. It is too laughable to contradict.

When many of the Chicago wheelmen boarded the steamer they were intoxicated and acted like rowdies and the more they say about the affair the more will the people understand the facts. The Graham & Morton people are now preparing an itemized statement of the property destroyed and thrown overboard from the City of Louisville and the wheelmen will be asked to pay for the damage they did to the boat.

The majority of the wheelmen here Sunday had the bearing of rowdies and probably the Graham & Morton company can do business at the old stand if they never come over again. Benton Harbor, anyway, is not lonesome to see the same gang again.

CLOSE THE CONTRACT

Board of Trade to Settle the Factory Deal Tomorrow Night.

President Miller announces a meeting of the members of the board of trade to occur tomorrow night when a contract will be executed with Ballhouse & Struben, of Kalamazoo, bringing them to this city with their extensive sulky and farming implement manufactory.

The committee, composed of members of the board of trade, appointed to select a building and arrange for the payment of one year's rent, has a favorable report to make. It has secured the Richards property on Park street, once used for manufacturing purposes, and has provided to advance the Kalamazoo firm the rent of the same for the first year.

This makes it possible for the board to meet the Kalamazoo concern with the assurance of being able to fulfill its obligation and in a condition to close the contract at once. A large attendance of the members of trade is desired tomorrow night.

SERMON OF PROSPERITY.

A Grand Rapids Minister Says It Has Arrived.

Rev. Dan F. Bradley of Grand Rapids preached a sensational sermon Sunday on the return of prosperity. Dr. Bradley said that a man rarely dies of his first sickness, but that it is a warning that something is wrong and death will result unless it is remedied.

"The sudden vanishing of prosperity," he said, "may be a warning of dangerous tendencies in the body politic that must be counteracted. National disaster has always been caused by national sin. We are now in the flush of the incoming tide of prosperity after a long period of disaster and loss. The ebb tide is hard times and the flow tide is prosperity, and you can hardly tell where one leaves off and the other begins."

"Now, after four years of ebb tide the flow has come. Everything testifies to it. Our foreign commerce tells the story. Marvellous crops of grain are now being hurried to the elevators. Never before was the handwork of our artisans more in demand, bicycles in Europe, locomotives in Japan and agricultural machinery in all lands. These things point to a better filled dinner box for the working man. The farmers, even, confess that good times are here. The croakers have taken to the woods and everywhere men are rejoicing in better conditions."

ABOUT THE COUNTY.

West Sodus.

WEST SODUS, August 17.—Elder Omweg having a call to go Bangor was not with us last Sunday morning or evening.

Four little girls were pallbearers, their names as follows: Daisie Withie, Pearl Versaw, Sarah Versaw, Alma Tillastrome.

WHAT MR. HILL SAYS.

White Said to Have Been Intoxicated in the Saloon.

Charles A. White, who yesterday lodged a complaint against Tonheller & Hill alleging that they operated their saloon on Sunday last, was ejected from the saloon yesterday instead of Sunday as THE NEWS indicated last night. He entered the place yesterday afternoon and is said to have abused Mr. Hill with a series of insults. White was ordered out and refusing to go was assisted to the door, no more force being used than was necessary to put him out.

After White was taken home yesterday afternoon Dr. Bastar called on him and found no fractures, although White pretended to be suffering considerable pain. Mr. Hill says that White got mad and became abusive because he could not procure more liquor there, his condition being such that they were obliged to refuse him any more drinks.

NEWS OF THE STATE.

in the deserted buildings. The village was formerly Lincoln, and was a thriving place before Ludington had a place on the map. The buildings of the deserted village are in a good state of preservation, and the only thing lacking is inhabitants.

Two months ago the peach crop of Mason county was estimated at 300,000 bushels; now the most generous estimate is only one-third of that amount. Many green peaches have fallen from the trees. Francis Shapple, who shipped 10,000 bushels last year, estimates his present crop at only 1,000.

Nearly 10,000 persons in the Barnum & Bailey tent at Port Huron, Saturday afternoon, were thrown into a panic by the heavy storm. The tent surged back and forth and the centre poles were wrenched from their sockets. A stampede seemed inevitable, but policemen kept the people back till quiet was restored. Several women fainted and others were trampled upon. The center pole of a merry-go-round fell in a crowd of 200 people but no one was badly hurt.

BARBERS BUSY.

They Will Enforce the Observance of the Sunday Law.

The barbers of Benton Harbor are determined upon enforcing among their St. Joseph competitors the observance of the law requiring barber shops to be closed on Sunday. At a meeting last night in the parlors of Morehouse & Wheaton every barber in the city was appointed a committee to detect violators of the Sunday law.

It was further ordered that Lewis Bell, the St. Joseph barber, who will have his hearing next Thursday on complaint of keeping his shop open Sunday, August 8, be complained against for doing business last Sunday, and prosecuted to the full extent of the law. The second complaint against him will probably be made by Morehouse & Wheaton.

A measure was passed advising the owners of all shops in Benton Harbor to close the doors of their business places at 11:30 o'clock Saturday night to avoid doing any work on Sunday. Last night's meeting was presided over by President Thompson, of the local association, and the minutes were kept by Secretary Anis.

A Fly Barred a Spider.

Samuel Simon, Sr., a well known resident of Neshannook township, while strolling near his home one day, noticed a fly about half an inch long and of a dark blue color, with a slim body, bearing a large dead spider. The fly crossed his path and laid his load down. It then went about 18 inches in another direction and commenced digging a hole in the ground. His curiosity being excited, he stopped and watched the work.

After the fly had the hole dug about half the length of himself he went to where he had left the spider and took its dimensions. After going back to the hole he found it was not big enough and commenced digging again. After taking out a quantity of earth he again went to the spider and again took its dimensions. He did this eight times and as often enlarged the hole. When the busy little fellow had the hole too deep for him to throw the earth clear out, he would go on the bank and force it back with his feet. After he had the excavation large enough for his purpose he went for the spider and brought it to the grave, for such it proved to be, and dragged it to the mouth of the hole. After he had the body in he covered it with fine earth first and finished by placing a small piece of cinder on the top. When he had finished the work, he flew away. The whole time consumed was exactly 55 minutes, as Mr. Simon said he sat and watched the whole performance.—Newcastle (Pa.) Democrat.

Chinese Darwinianism.

As in everything else, observes an exchange, the Chinese have their own and original Darwinian theory. Explaining the movements of winds, rains, clouds and of the earth itself in a unique way, they go on to trace the descent of the human kind. When the earth became fitted to sustain life, small herbs were the first to put in an appearance. Then came strong shrubs and trees. As the body of man, unwashed for years, breeds vermin, so the mountains, unlabeled by the seas, bred worms and insects, greater creatures always developing from the lesser. In the course of untold ages beetles became turtles, earthworms became serpents, and high flying insects became birds. Mice developed into wildcats and the wildcats into tigers. The mantis was by some method transformed into an ape, and some of the apes were finally born hairless. A hairless ape playing with two flints accidentally kindled a fire by striking them together. With the fire thus obtained he cooked food, and the eating of food thus prepared made him more strong and intellectual than his fellow ape.

A Golden Floor.

King George II was once invited out to dine with a wealthy and eccentric old duke who possessed more money than he very well knew what to do with. Upon this occasion, wishing to impress his majesty with the immensity of his riches, he had the floor of the dining hall paved from end to end with sovereigns, the head being up. Each coin was stuck in a mixture of lime, which soon dried, leaving the precious "floo" securely fastened. When the king arrived and was shown what had been done in his honor, his amazement knew no bounds, and it was with difficulty he could be persuaded to set foot upon the golden floor.—London Standard.

Farmer Killed by a Bull.
Monticello, Wis., Aug. 17.—Jacob Freitag, an extensive farmer and dairyman residing in Exeter township, two miles north of the village of Monticello, was killed on his own land by a vicious bull on Saturday afternoon. The unfortunate man, after being nearly gored to death, walked a few steps and wedged himself between two trees for safety, lying down, and there the bull finished its brutal work.

Miners Overcome by Gas.

ton, this county, were overcome by foul gases yesterday morning. When taken out one of them, Thomas Martin, was dead; the other two, George and Ben Troyer, are reported in a precarious con-

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Brain water is much esteemed as a wash for softening and whitening the skin. It is prepared as follows: Arise by putting a handful of bran in a bit of cheesecloth and tying the cloth into a bag. The bag is then squeezed in water a number of times, and the liquid is ready for use.
In warm weather the hair requires to be more carefully treated than in cold because the scalp is affected by perspiration and is more easily injured. The fine tooth comb, which is always to be avoided, is then especially injurious, discouraging the growth of the hair and wounding the skin. If the hair is very moist and clings together in locks, it may be cleaned and rendered more lustrous by powdering it thickly with starch and then brushing the starch all out again with a clean, dry brush.

posed to the light and air. They are usually kept in a close prison of leather all the time except at night, when they are smothered in bedclothes, and it is a wonder that they bear their burden with as little complaint as they do. If they are fatigued and aching from overwalking, rubbing them with alcohol will be found to give relief, especially if they are first bathed in hot water.
Now that trimmed skirts are gaining an actual hold on public favor the fancy for decoration which stimulates or suggests a yoke is obvious. The costume illustrated, which is of laurel green cloth, exemplifies this. The skirt is trimmed at the foot by two bands of green satin ribbon, while three bands of the ribbon are arranged in V's at the top around the hips. The bolero is ornamented by satin ribbon and applications of guipure and has revers of cream grain silk. The close sleeves, slightly puffed at the top, and the epaulettes are also trimmed with green ribbon. The chemise and cravat are of white crepon, two bands of green ribbon forming a corset. The hat is of bright green straw, trimmed with cream taffeta and cherries with foliage.

Yellowstone Lake.
"There is an individuality about lakes. Perhaps the most striking thing about Yellowstone lake is its high altitude. It is up among the mountains and clouds in Yellowstone park nearly a mile and a half—7,741 feet—above where the sportive summer girl sits on the beach at the Atlantic ocean while the lazy wavelets ripple about her dainty toes. But as high as it is the mountains rise higher still by thousands of feet. In a solemn, owl-like fashion they blink down at the lake, and the lake blinks back at them. These mountains are well defined peaks, and cones, and turrets, and nearly all are named. Some of them are in this way redolent of the old explorers, the men who first braved the perils and difficulties of an unknown, untrodden wilderness. Such are Colter peak and Mount Doane."
The above is taken from "Wonderland '97," a beautiful new Tourist book published by the Northern Pacific railway. It will be mailed to any address upon receipt of six cents in stamps by CHAS. S. FEE, Gen'l Pass.

WITHOUT A CENT.

A Boston Man is On His Way to Klondike.

CHICAGO, August 17.—J. H. Hansford, of Boston, without a cent in his pocket, arrived in the city yesterday en route for Dawson City. Mr. Hansford formerly was a traveling salesman, and got the gold fever. He wagered another man $250 that he could get to Seattle without paying any car fare, and he has covered the distance from Boston to Chicago on the blind end of baggage cars, on top of passenger coaches and in freight trains. He says he will work this winter in Seattle, save his money and start for Dawson City in the spring. He expects to reach there with as good a mining outfit as any one has.

Mrs. Rounds' Address.

The meeting in the Congregational church yesterday realized that they had the full benefit of Mrs. Rounds' visit for her informal talk was so full of instruction and interest that its influence was deeply felt. Many wished to hear her on the suffrage question, others wanted a mother's meeting. "The two do not conflict," she said, "for until the ballot for women assumed the form of work for home and protection for its loved ones, I did not feel interested in it. I do now, for it seems that only by the vote of women educated to know what the liquor traffic is doing against the home can the hydra-headed monster be driven from its throne."

HOWARD CITY, MICH., July 21, 1897. To Drs. B. S. & Co.

GENTLEMEN:—I am the dead man that came to see you three years ago last February. At that time I was about in my grave. No one that knew me ever thought that I would ever be any better. My kidneys, liver and lungs were all affected, also my digestive organs, producing heart trouble hence I was about done up and felt so. I did not think there was help for me, but as it is said a dying man will catch at a straw, I tried Drs. B. S. & Co. as a last resort and today am all o. k. on my feet again and have taken up wheat from a good man without trouble this harvest I raked and bound and kept up as of old. Who would believe it? No one who did not see me, for I was considered a dead man, or so to speak, when I first saw Dr. Booth. I am 64 years old and I called on Dr. Booth today, walking eight miles to see him, and am going to walk back this p. m., making 16 miles of walk today. I always like to see Dr. Booth and I feel he saved my life, hence I make this long walk. Will answer any questions that anyone wishes to ask about Drs. B. S. & Co., or their treatment. My address is Amble. W. T. CARR.

THE HEARTED BASEBALL PLAYER.

The Little System That Won a Nice Sum of Money—A Case of "Come Here, My Boy"—What He Did With the Last of That Particular Pot.

The late Mike Kelly probably made and spent more money during his career as a ball player than anybody else in his profession. Kelly was an inveterate gambler, and, like John L. Sullivan, he had a heart which constantly led him to do acts of charity. Kelly was in his element when at the race track. He got hold of more "good things" that went wrong than the average bettor, but he was always cheerful whether a winner or a loser. One day Mike went over to Guttenberg, when the hilltop track was flourishing, and after two races had been run he had just $30 and enough change with which to get back to the city. As Kel walked into the betting ring preparatory to the third race he saw on Bookmaker Ike Thompson's slate:

Play or Pay..... $0 to 1 Meadows..... $0 to 1 Blitzen..... $0 to 1 Hoey..... $0 to 1

"I've got a system, me boy," said the "king" to a friend, "and it's a peach. I'm going to put a five on each of them plugs, and then I can't lose, see? I got to get some dough back, no matter how they run."

"That's no system, Mike," said Kel's friend.

"It's as good as the average, sport," was the quick retort, and Mike pushed his way up to Thompson's book.

"Say, there, Ike, old boy!" yelled Mike. "Here's four green fivers. Put one on each of them ponies, keep the change, and gimme the tickets quick."

The bookmaker laughed as he handed Kel four tickets, each calling for Play or Pay 300 to 5, Meadows 150 to 5, Blitzen 5 to 5, Hoey 4 to 5 respectively.

"That's quite a chance you're taking, Mike," said Thompson, with a laugh.

"It is, if one of them long guys comes walkin' in with the yellow boys in his stockings," replied the ball player.

Then the bell rang telling the crowd that the horses were at the post.

"They're off!" yelled Kelly, as Start-or Caldwell dropped his flag. "What's that guy away out in front, running as if he saw a square meal somewhere?"

"It's Play or Pay!" screamed hundreds. And so it proved to be. The horse had been the recipient of one of those celebrated Guttenberg injections, and he won in a romp.

Kelly never ran bases faster than he ran up to Ike Thompson's book, brandishing his ticket calling for $300.

"Give us the green goods, Ike!" he roared, while the crowd gathered around breathlessly.

"There's your money," said Thompson pleasantly, as he took a big roll of bills from the cashier. Kelly didn't stop to count it, but made a rush for the bar-room, crying out:

"If there's dust in any guy's throat around here, let him come in with me and wash it out. Everybody have a drink!" The bar looked like a bargain counter as the sports lined up. They called for everything from wine to cigarettes, and when all had had enough Kel said to the drink mixer:

"How much, sport?"

"Fifteen dollars, Kel!"

"There's twenty. Have a bot yourself!"

"Say, Mr. Kelly," whispered a tout, "could you stake me to a few bucks? I've got a cinch."

"There's ten of them, me boy. Go and break up the betting ring," was Kelly's response as he forked out a $10 bill. Other impetuous persons successively "touched" him for various amounts until Mike decided to plunge again. Going up to a bookmaker who had 100 to 1 against the horse Duke John, Mike cried out, "I'll put a hundred on that one!" and quickly produced a century, for which he received a ticket calling for $10,000 to $100.

"If Duke John wins," said Mike, "I'll buy the track." Duke John was lost in a field of 12, but Kelly only laughed. And so he continued to speculate until the races were over. Then he had a $10 bill and some change. He paid the car and ferry fares of at least 50 cents here and a quarter there, and by the time he left the boat at the foot of Forty-second street he had a few pennies over $5. As Kelly crossed Tenth avenue he caught sight of a little girl about 8 years old who was crying as if her heart would break. He picked her up in his arms and said gently:

"What's the matter, little one?"

"Mamma's sick in bed and I'm hungry," sobbed the little girl. Kel gulped down a lump in his throat, put the child on the sidewalk, pressed $5 into her hand and said soothingly:

"There, give that to your mother, little one, and may God bless you."

"Come on, sport," Kel said to his friend then. "We're broke, but let's hunt up some more green goods." He soon borrowed $50 from his namesake, Honest John Kelly. That was at 7 o'clock in the evening. At 11 o'clock that same night he had won $1,000 at faro. The next day he caught the noon boat for Guttenberg, and he had but $50. When Mike died, he didn't leave a dollar. —New York Sun.

How do the royal family manage to distinguish between their Victorian? There is a Victoria in every family of the modern generation—Victoria of Prussia, Victoria of Wales, Victoria of Edinburgh, Victoria of Hanover, Victoria of Saxe-Coburg, Victoria of Romania, Victoria of Greece, Victoria of Serbia, Victoria of Bulgaria, Victoria of Montenegro, Victoria of Rumania, Victoria of Greece, Victoria of Serbia, Victoria of Bulgaria, Victoria of Montenegro, Victoria of Rumania.

Her Poor Boy.

The Louisville Courier-Journal tells a story of a good old mother who received a dreadful shock the other day through a telegram from her boy, who is in New York enjoying himself. As enjoying one's self sometimes costs money, it is not strange that the young man sent the following somewhat slangy dispatch for more funds to his father:

"Had my leg pulled. Broke. Send me $50 by wire."

When the mother read this appeal, she was plunged in grief.

"My poor boy!" she moaned. "He must have been in one of those cable car things. Send him $100, father, and tell him to get the best doctor in the city."

The Other Way.

Mom—It drives me frantic to see women standing in a street car.

THE BIG FOUR.

First Member—And now, gentlemen, to business. I suppose we may put down the capital at $50,000?

Second Member—Better make it $500,000. Half a million is so much easier to get.

Third Member—Of course. Who would look at a paltry $50,000?

First Member—Perhaps you are right. Five pound shares, eh?

Fourth Member—Better make them sovereigns; simpler to manipulate.

First Member—I dare say. Then the same solicitors as our last?

Fifth Member—Yes, on the condition that they get a firm to undertake the underwriting.

First Member—Necessarily. The firm I propose, gentlemen, are men of business and quite recognize that nothing purchases nothing.

Second Member—And they could get the secretary with a thousand to invest.

First Member—Certainly. Our brokers, bankers and auditors as before, eh, gentlemen?

Fifth Member—On the same conditions.

First Member—That is understood. And now the prospectus is getting into shape. Is there anything else any one can suggest?

Fourth Member—Oughtn't we to have some object in view?

First Member—Assuredly, making money.

Fourth Member—Don't be frivolous. But what I mean is, should we not know for what purpose we are going to expend the $500,000?

First Member—Oh! You mean the name. Well, that comparatively unimportant detail we might safely leave until our next pleasant gathering.

Meeting adjourned. Curtain.—London Punch.

THE BEST KNOWN FACE.

One Hundred Likenesses of Queen Victoria For Every Living Person.

No man or woman who ever lived has had his or her features reproduced oftener than her majesty the queen, says the Boston Herald. The number of actual photographs of her majesty in existence cannot be recorded, and there are besides millions of reproductions. Take the number of stamps sold in the United Kingdom during the queen's reign. The number of articles passing through English, Scotch, Welsh and Irish postoffices in a recent year was nearly 8,000,000; and, though, of course, that figure need not be taken as an average, it is not going beyond the mark to say that since the accession of the queen over 60,000,000 postal dispatches have passed through the postoffices of Great Britain. Every one of these would bear at least one stamp and many of them two or three, and every stamp bears the image of the queen. Eighty thousand million images of her majesty must have gone through the post during her record reign.

Then the record of the mint is by no means a small one since the coronation. It is estimated that about 6,000,000,000 coins in gold, silver and bronze have passed through the hands of her majesty's subjects, each coin bearing the features of the sovereign. Her image has been reproduced often enough to present 100 likenesses to every man, woman and child on the globe. Without doubt the queen's is the best known face in the world.

Held His Audience.

"Ex-Representative George D. Wise of Richmond," said Colonel Sinnott, one of the capitol detectives, "is one of the best campaigners in the south. He can hold almost any kind of an audience with his oratory, but I saw him badly stumped a few years ago. Mr. Wise had been addressing for about ten minutes a monster crowd in front of Hanover courthouse on the issues of the day when he noticed a craning of necks on the part of his rustic audience and finally the departure of a dozen or more men in the direction of a fakir who was making a speech in front of a dirty looking circus tent. As the fakir told about the marvelous freaks to be seen inside—the rubber neck man, the bearded woman, the living skeleton, etc.—his voice swelled and swelled until Mr. Wise could hardly be heard. Seeing that he was about to lose his audience, Mr. Wise fairly yelled: 'Look over yonder, boys. There's a circus. Come with me. It's my treat.' He led the way, and every one in the crowd followed him. After the performance Mr. Wise resumed his speech under the tent." —Washington Post.

White Dome Geyser Yellowstone Park.

A mile and a half from the Fountain Hotel, and easily reached by bicycle, tourist wagon, or by walking, lies a hidden basin full of nature's caprices. At the entrance, as if on guard, stands the immaculate White Dome. As one approaches, he almost expects to be challenged and asked for a countersign. If such a challenge is given it is in a curious fashion, in the form of a geyser eruption, for the White Dome is a geyser. It is not unlike the Castle Geyser, or the White Pyramid of the Upper Geyser Basin. The geyser is a very white, rather dome-shaped mound, built up from the secretions of its waters, and is the most conspicuous feature of the locality. It is perhaps 25 feet high, with a circumference at the base of 75 or 100 feet. Its eruptions come at intervals of from twenty to forty-five minutes, being somewhat irregular, and the water is thrown to a height of from ten to twenty-five feet.

DEATH FOR ANGIOLLI.

Assassin of Canovas del Castillo Will Be Garroted Like a Common Murderer.

HIS COUNSEL PLEADS FOR MEROY

On the Ground That His Client Was Inmate at the Time of the Crime—Murderer Tells the Court How He Came To Be an Anarchist and Criminal and Tries to Justify His Deed—The Orleans-Terlin Duel.

Madrid, Aug. 17.—The court announced its decision at Vergara yesterday in the case of Angiolli (alias Goll) who assassinated Canovas del Castillo. About 200 persons were present at the trial. The vicinity of the prison was almost deserted, the public being apparently indifferent in view of the certainty that the death penalty would follow the court-martial. Angiolli, heavily manacled, sat between two gen d'armes and immediately in front of his judges. The president of the court read the declarations of eye-witnesses, after which the written statement of the prisoner was read by the clerk of the court.

How He Fell Into Anarchist Ways. Angiolli, in the course of the statement, said that he left Foggia in October, 1885, and went to Marseilles and Barcelona, where he took the name of Jose Santos. At first he had no thought of becoming an anarchist, but while at Corintha he began to be interested in anarchist doctrines. He then returned to Marseilles, and after his expulsion from that city he went to Belgium and London, where he spent most of his time in the society of anarchists. When the execution took place at Barcelona on May 4 of five of the anarchists convicted of participation in the bomb outrage at the feast of Corpus Christi he conceived the idea of assassinating Canovas. Without seeking an accomplice he proceeded to Spain and carried out the resolution.

Defense Makes the Insanity Plea. The public prosecutor described the crime as "premeditated murder" and asked the court to impose the death penalty. Lieutenant Gorria, whom the court had assigned as counsel to defend Angiolli, urged that the prisoner was demented at the time of the shooting, and made a strong appeal to the benevolence of the judges. While his counsel was presenting this plea Angiolli listened in silence. Then he asked permission to speak for himself, which was granted. He thanked Lieutenant Gorria for his efforts, and denied that he had any accomplices, or that he was an accomplice of those who committed the bomb-throwing outrage at Barcelona, or that he had participated in secret gatherings of anarchists. When he began to discuss anarchist theories the president of the court interrupted him and threatened to stop him if he pursued that line of remark or touched upon any matters not connected with the trial.

Wanted to Justify His Crime. Angiolli persisted in speaking of politics and of the wars in Cuba and the Philippines. The president said: "All that has nothing to do with your crime."

Angiolli replied: "I must justify myself."

The president retorted: "That is no justification. Moreover, you can convince nobody in that way."

Angiolli began again, but the president declared the trial ended and ordered the court room cleared. After the prisoner had been conducted to his cell the judges deliberated for an hour and then announced the sentence of the court, which was that Angiolli be garroted within the prison walls.

PRINCELY DUELLIST DOING WELL.

Heul of Orleans Passes a Satisfactory Night—Frenchmen Are Wild.

Paris, Aug. 17.—Prince Henri of Orleans, who was wounded in the lower part of the right side of the abdomen Sunday morning in the duel fought with the Count of Turin, nephew of the king of Italy, passed a quiet night. His condition is now considered by his physicians to be satisfactory. General Albertone, the Italian officer who had challenged Prince Henri, but who gave way to the Count of Turin, has withdrawn his challenge. Paris is intensely excited over the duel. The sale of papers on the boulevards was almost unprecedented, while on all sides knots of Parisians, gesticulating with even more than customary energy, were discussing, almost quarreling, over the encounter.

Although the republicans would fain console themselves with the reflection that Prince Henri's overthrow has killed Orleansism for a generation, French pride, irrespective of party, is deeply hurt by the Italian prince's victory. Happily the mood of the Parisian changes quickly and often, for if the present temper were to last international complications would be unavoidable. The French anger is further stimulated by persistent reports that Prince Henri was inferior to his opponent in nerve more than in wordsmanship, and was completely overborne by the violent, reckless onslaught of the Count of Turin.

Laurier Gets a Gold Medal.

British Free Traders Make Him a Present—Minister Davies Talks.

London, Aug. 17.—A delegation of members of the Cobden club, headed by Lord Farrer, called yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Cecil and presented to the Canadian premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the special gold medal of the club struck for presentation to the Canadian statesman in formal recognition of his attachment to free trade.

Louis H. Davies, Canadian minister of marine and fisheries, addressing the London Chamber of Commerce yesterday, said every vestige of feeling in favor of union with the United States had long disappeared. Canada, he added, had nothing to gain thereby. Continuing Davies warned intending emigrants against the tremendous difficulties of the Klondike, saying they would go there at their own risk and that the Canadian government had not advised it.

Hundreds and thousands of persons, he pointed out, were going there every year, and were being killed and discovered. There are no real gold fields in Canada, he said, and the only reason for the new United States tariff duties said the Dingley bill had built up a prohibitive wall against Canadian trade, which the government of the Dominion, therefore, had resolved to greatly transfer to Great Britain.

New York, Aug. 17.—H. C. Hansbrough, United States senator from North Dakota, and Miss Mary Berri Chapman, of Washington, were married at the Hotel Burlington in this city yesterday. The ceremony took place in one of the parlors of the hotel, which was decorated with white azaaleas, maiden hair ferns, palms and pink roses. The Rev. Lester Bradner officiated, using the Protestant Episcopal service. The bride wore a corn colored silk with brocaded stripes and tulle trimming, and a white leghorn hat with plumes. Her mother, Mrs. E. S. Chapman, who bestowed the hand of the bride, wore white and gray grenadine trimmed with white satin, and a passementerie bonnet of gray and white.

After the ceremony the guests, numbering about twenty-five, were entertained at an informal repast served in an adjoining room. Senator and Mrs. Hansbrough expect to spend most of the time near New York until after Nov. 1, when they will be at home at 2033 Florida avenue, Washington. The bride is the authoress of a volume of poems and has been a contributor to Harpers and other magazines.

BREAK OF A COUPLING IS FATAL.

Mortally Wounds Three Men and More or Less Badly Injures Seventeen.

Ottumwa, Ia., Aug. 17.—By the breaking of a coupling on a train of cars in the mine of the Wapello Coal company at Hiteam yesterday morning twenty men were more or less badly injured, three of whom will die. The fatally injured are James Darby, Don Coulson and Charles Edmunds. The 200 men employed in the mine were on a train of twenty-five cars en route down an incline from the mouth of the shaft to their places of work, when the coupling between the last two cars broke, letting the rest down the grade. The cars struck a curve in the track and men and cars were piled together in a heap.

FARMING IN THE SOUTH.

NO DROUGHTS, GENIAL CLIMATE AND AVAILABLE SECTIONS ESPECIALLY ADAPTED TO SETTLEMENT BY NORTHERN FARMERS.

Almost every variety of grains and grasses grown in the North can be successfully grown in the South, but the crops that give best results for the money invested and labor expended are fruits and vegetables. Cotton is no longer King in the South. This wonderful change may possibly have been brought about by the large number of Northern farmers that have located at so many points on the Illinois Central and the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley railroads in the States of Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana, and carried with them the

PRACTICAL IDEAS OF DIVERSIFIED FARMING

as practiced in the North. No country in America can compare with southern Mississippi and northern Louisiana for the cultivation of fruits and vegetables, and the time is not far distant when this locality will supply the early markets of the North and Northwest. All who contemplate a change of location should investigate this favorable section, to aid in which, send for a free copy of the Woman in Trial of Her Husband.

Mrs. Vida Cochran, of Coloma, today filed a bill of complaint commencing in the circuit court for a divorce from James H. Cochran, a bookkeeper by occupation who is earning a salary of $100 per month at Kenosha, Wis.

The bill alleges that Cochran is addicted to drinking and gambling and has neglected to provide a support for his wife and child for two years, during which time Mrs. Cochran has lived with her parents. They were married at Kenosha September 13, 1891. Valentine & Ellsworth are solicitors for the complainant.

BOWERSOX IS MAD.

Evidently the Gods Have Sought to Destroy Him.

EDITOR EVENING NEWS: What Bowersox does not know about a subsidized press is evidently not worth knowing. The immaculate Bowersox, with what horror he regards the subsidized newspapers of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph. All lost to virtue, all except that shining pattern and example "The Press." But virtue has its reward. The Press only is able to keep a slagger who, on a safe and favorable opportunity in the Press office jumps upon and pounds the unsuspecting and defenseless citizen whom the editor does not like. The higher the citizen stands in the community the more glory of course for the editor.

No one can fail to recognize in the wild shrieks and raving of the Press editor, the familiar cry of stop thief, raised for the purpose of diverting attention from his pet bruiser Shuler. There is an old proverb which says, "When the Gods would destroy they first make mad." X.

ANOTHER SEARCH.

Chicago Woman Says She Will Locate the Chicora.

The Chicora is about to be found again. Mrs. Sarah E. Bromwell, the famous medium and seer of Chicago, has arrived in St. Joseph and has declared to THE NEWS reporter that she will at once proceed to prosecute a vigorous search for the lost boat and is sure that her efforts will be rewarded.

Mrs. Bromwell was here last summer and made plans for the final culmination of her search which she declares will occur soon. Last summer Mrs. Bromwell engaged Dr. Burke's steam yacht and in company with a number of newspaper men and their ladies searched the immediate vicinity of the lake and claimed that she saw indications which were sufficient to justify a thorough search for the boat which she now proposes to institute. She will engage a steam yacht and go after Graham & Morton's reward of $10,000 in earnest. A diver from Chicago has been secured and will accompany the medium. A number of St. Joseph gentlemen including the writer will accompany Mrs. Bromwell on her search. The lady seems to be reasonably sure that her "controlling spirit" will indicate to her the exact location of the Chicora.

Mrs. Bromwell says: "Last winter the Chicora matter occupied my mind almost entirely. I have had many visions and they all seem to tell me that my search for the Chicora will be successful. I have been in correspondence with Andrew Crawford, of the Graham & Morton company and their first reward still stands open to me."

While a good many people know in a general way of the Bertillon system for the identification of criminals, comparatively few know of the simple method which Uncle Sam has been using for a number of years past to keep track of the men who eat his rations and wear his uniform in the regular army. The system employed by the war department might be termed the "natural method" and is at once simple and ingenious. It does away with all apparatus except a vertical measuring rod and a pair of scales. It is known as "the scar system" and has been found wonderfully effective.

There is an unwritten theory in the army that every man who enlists will at some time or other desert. This is not entirely true, but the desertions are numerous enough to make it worth while to keep track of the offenders. In war the penalty for desertion is death, but in peace it is a long term of imprisonment, and the subject is liable to punishment no matter how long a term has elapsed since his offense was committed. Strange as it may seem, the men who desert most readily are the ones who straightway go back and enlist again, though usually in some remote section of the country.

The "recruiting card," as it is called, is big enough to contain two 6 inch outlines of a man's form, front and rear view, with a good sized border for marginal notes. When the recruit is stripped for his physical examination, he is gone over from head to foot, and every appreciable scar or permanent skin blemish is recorded. Its location is accurately noted by a dot on the card, and its description is written on the margin. The hands and face usually have the greatest number of scars, but those on the body are apt to be the more pronounced and characteristic, as it is usually a more severe wound that penetrates the clothing and leaves its record on the flesh beneath. Moles are also noted, their color and dimensions, and other birthmarks or blemishes that would not ordinarily disappear with time.

The question may arise as to what if a man have no scars, moles or birthmarks. That would be enough to identify him, for in all the thousands of men who have been catalogued by the department there has never been one who bore less than three clearly defined scars, while seven or eight is the more usual number, and there are some cases where the number runs up to 30 or 35. Further, so infinite are the chances of combination that there have never been two individuals whose height, weight and the number and location of their scars came anywhere near coinciding.—Washington Star.

Slum Work in London.

To accomplish any substantial result in slum work in London, a woman must not only give time and strength but life itself. Miss Meredith Brown, the English philanthropist, who has been the champion of the factory girls for some years, says that women who know only the slums of New York and Chicago have no conception of the horrors and misery of the slums close to the aristocratic parts of London. The girls which Miss Brown's special mission reaches are so rough and lawless that the Salvation Army would not take them in, and the directors of a mission which had invited the girls to tea refused to allow them into the building again. The girls came to the feast with pillow slips under their aprons and snatched everything to eat off the table before their hostesses could stop them.

Finally the courageous women interested in the welfare of these young semisavages decided that to reach the girls they would have to live among them. Ten dauntless women took up their residence in a rickety old house in the very heart of all the misery and squalor which makes the wild girls what they are, and their efforts at last were met with more than an encouraging response. "But it is very hard on the health," says Miss Brown. "Two years will break down any one, so we have lost some of our best workers."—New York Commercial.

Made a Difference.

"I can't take that half dollar, madam. It's a counterfeit."

"Why, I got it here yesterday morning."

"Are you sure?"

"Yes, sir. I bought a pair of shoes for $3.50. I handed you a $5 bill. You gave me a dollar bill and this half dollar in change. There can't be any mistake about it. I haven't had any other 50 cent piece in my possession since."

"Let me look at it again. H'm—the coin's all right. It looks a little suspicious, but on closer examination I find it's only battered. I'll take it."

"Oh, I beg your pardon. Now that I think about it I didn't get it here at all. A fruit peddler gave it to me in charge this morning. I had forgotten it. However, if it's all right you'll take it, so it doesn't make any."

"H'm—on looking at it still closer, ma'am, I find my first impression was correct. It's a counterfeit and a bad one. I shall have to refuse it, ma'am."
